

Keynote Speaker

Dr. Mays Imad

Mays Imad is a neuroscientist and professor of pathophysiology and biomedical ethics at Pima Community College, the founding coordinator of the Teaching and Learning Center, and a Gardner Institute Fellow. Dr. Imad's current research focuses on stress, self-awareness, advocacy, and classroom community, and how these relate to cognition, metacognition, and, ultimately, student learning and success. Through her teaching and research, she seeks to provide her students with transformative opportunities which are grounded in the aesthetics of learning, truth-seeking, justice, and self-realization.

Special Thank You to the 21CPI Advisory Board, past and present: Beth Allan, Linda Banks, Suzanne Clinton, Trevor Cox, Steven Dunn, Jerry Green, Jon Hicks, Jody Horn, Michelle Johnson, Sam Ladwig, Jill Lambeth, Mark McCoy, Lora Benson Pezzell, Pam Rollins, Mark Walvoord and Amanda Waters
